

I am very grateful for the opportunity to attend (visit) this conference in your beautiful country. I am truly amazed at the great variety of cultural and physical beauty that is compressed in this small group of islands. I also think that the American molecular biologists could learn very much from the Japanese chemists about the art of arranging and conducting a conference.

Frederick W. Alt
Stanford University

It was very nice to see you again in Japan. We will be in Boston starting next year - so please make sure to come see us when you come there to see the Masamunes in the future with Mrs. Nogue. Keiko Nakamichi Alt

Japan, with its beautiful countryside & hospitality has been a truly enjoyable experience for me. I will return home with many fond memories. Hope to return soon & to see you & Mrs. Nogue in California

9/12/77

with Thanks

Bob Tambie